

Can you follow this instruction? Circle what it is missing.

There are three boxes, and the instruction only says the box.

Put the bear on top of the box.

It does not say what to put there.

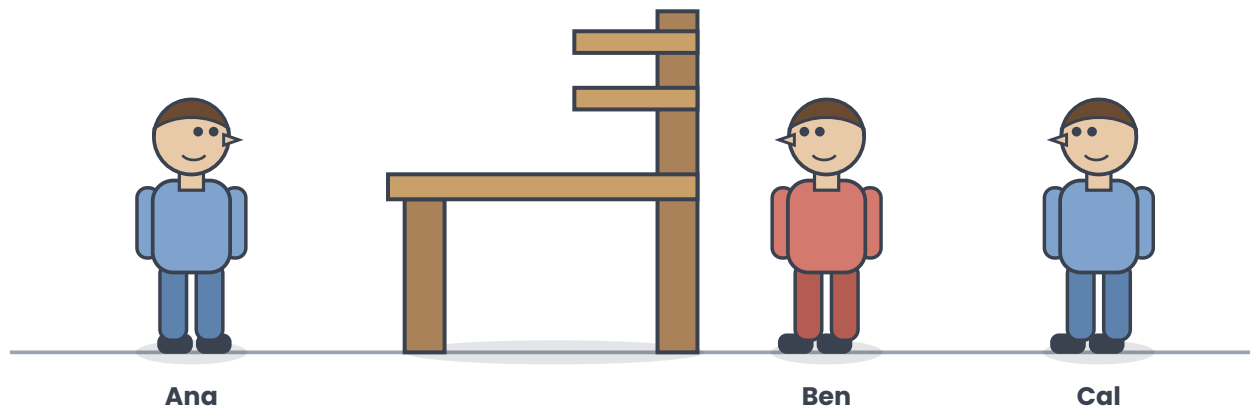

It does not say which box.

It does not say a position word.

Say the instruction again so it can only mean one box.

Everyone was told to stand behind the chair.

Circle every student who did it. The chair's back is on the right.

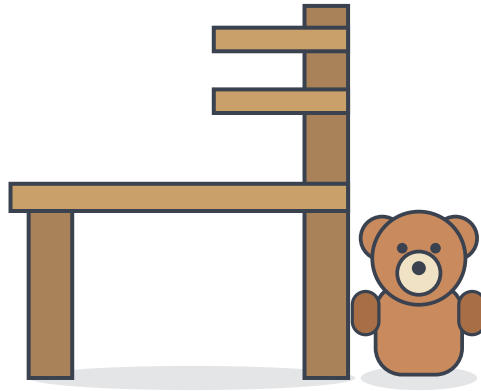

Two of them are behind it. Say what makes a place behind and not beside.

Ben and Cal are standing in different spots. Can both be behind?

I said: put the bear underneath the chair.

Did I do it? Circle the sentence that says what I really did.

The bear is underneath the chair.

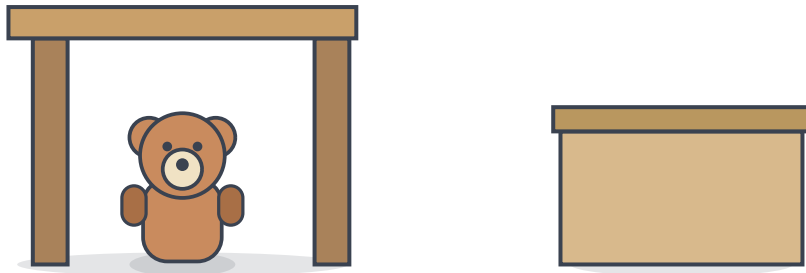

The bear is next to the chair.

The bear is on top of the chair.

Draw an arrow to show where the bear should have gone.

Write the instruction that would make this picture.

Circle one word from each row, then say the whole instruction.

Put the bear

on top of	underneath	next to	inside
the table	the box	the chair

Give your instruction to a partner and watch what they do.

If they put the bear somewhere else, say which word needs changing.
